PWR will honor the Published Writers of Rossmoor (PWR) club's president and founder, Duke Robinson, for the publication of his fifth book, "Standing on My Head...With My Fly Open." There will be a display of all his books in the Rossmoor Library throughout the month of February.

The provocative title describes how the author was caught unaware by a photographer from the "Philadelphia Inquirer" when he was performing with his 4th Grade tumbling team.

His other books on display will include "The Middle Way: The Secular/Spiritual Road to Wholeness"(2014),"Savior: An Old Notion in a New Novel of Unthinkable Absurdity"(2012),"Create Your Best Life: How to Live Fully Knowing One Day You Will Die"(2011),"Too Nice For Your Own Good: How to Stop Making 9 Self-Sabotaging Mistakes"(2000).

Robinson's intimate memoir takes the reader through a life marked by difficult to explain coincidences, surprise twists and turns, and life-or- death-close-calls that impacted him dramatically. His curious mind kept him asking the "real" meaning of these events and their possible consequences near- and long-term, and trying to answer with some measure of intellectual integrity, why life works the way it does. How come the smallest incident or choice, either by yourself or someone else, can turn your life in a direction you never imagined?

The author's story of his own personal change as an outcome of life's experiences has to do with discarding a lot of superstition, sentimentality and wishful thinking in religion, to be grounded in, integrated with, and liberated by relating honestly to the real world. "Looking back," he says, "I never wanted to be caught standing on my 'theological head' with my fly open."

Robinson's books are available at the Rossmoor Library. They may also be purchased from Amazon, local bookstores or directly from the author. To purchase books from the author, persons should send him an email; his email address is, dukenclaire@gmail.com.
