

“Protecting Authors' Intellectual Property Rights” by Kelley Way

Press Release Written by Barbara Kirbach, PWR Publicity Board Member

Kelley Anne Way, a Walnut Creek attorney, who specializes in trademark and copyright law, will discuss the importance of protecting intellectual property at the upcoming Published Writers of Rossmoor (PWR) meeting, from 10 am to noon, on April 1st, 2017. The meeting will take place in the Fairway Room at Creekside, Rossmoor.

Kelley Way described, in her own words, her law firm’s approach on protecting the intellectual property rights, this way: “Our goal is to ensure that our clients know their rights about their intellectual property, and have the greatest protection they can get under the law. To that end, our firm provides counseling in the areas of copyright and trademark law and in drafting licensing and contract agreements. We also assist in registering copyrights and trademarks with the appropriate government offices.”

Kelley Way was born and raised in Walnut Creek, CA. Kelley graduated from University of California Davis with a degree in English and a minor in Music. She received her juris doctorate in 2010, also from the UC Davis School of Law. She completed a one-year fellowship at the Pacific Justice Institute. She is a member of the American Bar Association (Section of Intellectual Property Law), California State Bar Association (Section on Intellectual Property Law) and the Contra Costa Bar Association (Intellectual Property Section).

PWR President Duke Robinson said that all aspiring or published book authors are welcome to attend.

For more information on the April 1, 2017 PWR meeting and Kelley Way's presentation, contact Ron Wren, PWR Program Chair; his email address is ronwren@aol.com.

Click on the "Download File" icon to the right and below to view or download the presentation.